Introduction

On behalf of the Eastern Townships Research Centre, which recognizes the important contribution of individual families to the history of the Townships, the author undertook the task of preparing this guide to genealogical source material. The Guide’s purpose is to serve as a research tool for individuals seeking information about their Eastern Townships ancestry. As the title indicates, the Guide is a compendium of the genealogical sources available at Bishop’s University, primarily in the reading room of the McGreer Building, and will serve as an aid to both professional and amateur genealogists.

In the preparation of the Guide, no references were included that do not in some way pertain to the Eastern Townships. Among English-language sources, for example, are included references relating to the history of the English settlement of the Townships, embracing references to New England, New York, Ontario and Britain. Further, only references with definite genealogical usefulness are included.

The Guide is divided into two parts, English-language Sources and French-language sources.

To facilitate research and bring some order to the material available, materials are classified within each part according to the following categories:

A. Nominal Sources: Sources that are for the most part made up of basic lists of individuals and that provide some additional information such as addresses and occupations.

B. Biographical Sources: Sources that provide more biographical information (educational background, occupation, political activity, social standing), though usually brief.

C. Historical Sources: Sources less directly related to genealogical research that provide important background information and some references to early settlers or to important individuals or families.

D. Aids to Research: Sources of a bibliographical nature that direct researchers to other sources or publications.

E. Genealogies: Published and unpublished genealogies that provide information spanning two generations or more.

F. General References: Sources that provide an introduction or guide to the subject of genealogy.
Entries are listed alphabetically by title within each of these sections, and numbered consecutively from the beginning to the end of each of the Guide's two parts. Each item listed is given a single full entry in the category where it fits best. Where an item seemed to suit more than one category, it has been cross-referenced in other categories by means of a note referring the reader to the main entry.

At the end of each entry, the location or collection within which the item is to be found, and its call number, are given in bold.

Two appendices to the Guide inform researchers of local newspapers and archival holdings available for consultation.

A bibliography of Eastern Townships genealogical source material prepared by the author of the present Guide was first released in 1983 and later revised in 1985. Since then, Bishop's has added various items to its collection of genealogical material. The present Guide, then, serves to bring the original bibliography up to date. In the two previous editions a section was included concerning additional genealogical material available at Université de Sherbrooke. Bishop's efforts to enhance its holdings in recent years have eliminated earlier shortcomings vis à vis Université de Sherbrooke's holdings, and that section has consequently been dropped.

As in the past, the author has attempted to include all sources presently available in the library. Should researchers find errors or omissions, they are invited to alert library staff so that steps may be taken to adjust any future releases of this Guide.

Introduction

Nous avons réalisé ce guide grâce à l’appui du Centre de recherche des Cantons de l’Est qui reconnaît l’importance de la recherche généalogique pour le développement de l’histoire des Cantons de l’Est. Il constitue un instrument de recherche pour les chercheurs, amateurs ou professionnels, intéressés à retracer leurs ancêtres des Cantons de l’Est. Comme le titre l’indique, ce guide regroupe les sources généalogiques disponibles à l’Université Bishop’s, principalement dans la nouvelle salle de consultation de l’édifice McGreer.

Le guide est composé de deux parties : Sources en anglais et Sources en français. Afin de faciliter la recherche, nous avons classé les différentes sources, à l’intérieur de chacune des parties, dans les catégories suivantes :

A. Sources nominales : Sources qui fournissent principalement des listes d’individus, mais aussi quelques renseignements supplémentaires (adresse, occupation, ...).

B. Sources biographiques : Sources qui fournissent plus de renseignements biographiques (éducation, occupation, activités politiques, statut social, etc.), mais de façon concise.

C. Sources historiques : Sources, moins liées à la généalogie, qui fournissent des informations sur le contexte historique, sur les premiers colons ou sur des individus ou des familles d’importance.

D. Instruments de recherche : Sources qui orientent les chercheurs vers d’autres sources ou publications.

E. Généalogies : Généalogies, publiées ou non, qui fournissent des informations sur deux générations ou plus.

F. Ouvrages de référence : Sources qui constituent des introductions ou des guides à la recherche généalogique.
Les sources sont présentées en ordre alphabétique de titres, à l'intérieur de chaque catégorie, et elles sont numérotées séquentiellement du début à la fin de chaque partie. Chaque source est citée dans la catégorie qui lui convient le mieux. Une source peut cependant se retrouver dans plus d'une catégorie. Dans ce cas, la référence complète se trouve dans la catégorie première et les autres mentions de la source y renvoient.

La localisation ou la collection ainsi que la cote des sources sont indiquées en caractères gras après chacune d'elles.

Deux annexes énumèrent les journaux locaux ainsi que les fonds et les collections d'archives privées disponibles.

Une bibliographie des sources généalogique a été publiée par l'auteur de ce guide en 1983 et révisée en 1985. Depuis, l'Université Bishop's a acquis de nombreuses autres sources. Cette version du guide se veut donc une mise à jour de la bibliographie originale. Dans les deux versions précédentes, une section présentait des sources complémentaires disponibles à l'Université de Sherbrooke. Nous avons laissé tomber cette section car l'Université Bishop's a beaucoup enrichi, au cours des dernières années, sa collection de sources généalogiques.

Comme par le passé, nous avons essayé de répertorier toutes les sources disponibles à la bibliothèque. Si les chercheurs trouvent des erreurs ou des omissions, nous les invitons à en informer le personnel de la bibliothèque afin que nous puissions apporter les corrections nécessaires dans les prochaines versions de ce guide.

Appendix I

The region's newspapers are an important source of genealogical information. They contain notices of births, marriages and deaths; obituaries; reports on family gatherings; social notes; and so on.

The following is a list of the various newspapers that are or were once published in the Eastern Townships, with the dates of issues available on microfilm, variations in publishing titles, and call numbers.

Please note that as a rule social and related notes are rare before 1870, and obituaries seldom appear before 1900.
